

Guzzler

In Sundancers we read Guzzler's Big Book on Energy to the children, a few of the children had an interest, so we then took a smaller group to talk about saving energy. Some of the children decided that in Sundancers we can turn out the lights when the day is bright helping to save energy. Other children said we can turn off the heaters when the temperature is warmer inside and to wear warmer clothing when the weather is very cold. We discussed eating a healthy breakfast every morning to give us the energy to start our day because we need lots of energy for running around at school.
