The Building Energy Rating (BER) is an indication of the energy performance of this dwelling. It covers the energy use for space heating, water heating, ventilation and lighting, calculated on the basis of standard occupancy. It is expressed as primary energy use per unit floor area per year (kWh/m²/yr). 'A' rated properties are the most energy efficient and will tend to have the lowest energy bills.

Building Energy Rating (BER) scale showing energy efficiency levels (A+ to G) and corresponding kWh/m²/yr values. The scale is a vertical bar with horizontal segments. A black diamond with 'C1' is placed next to the C1 segment. To the right of the scale, the text 'XXX kWh/m²/yr' is displayed.

This document explains the advertising requirements for Building Energy Ratings (BER) in Ireland as set out in Article 12 of S.I. 243 of 2012 (Energy Performance of Buildings Directive). It is divided into two sections.

- Section A outlines the requirements under the new simplified BER scale, which came into effect on 24 May 2026.
- Section B describes the previous BER advertising guidelines, which continue to apply to BERs issued before this date and for the remainder of their 10-year validity period.

The Sustainable Energy Authority of Ireland (SEAI), as the designated Issuing Authority, periodically publishes guidance on how BER information should be displayed in property sale and rental advertisements.

These guidelines and associated artworks are available to download from www.seai.ie/ber

In accordance with S.I. 243 of 2012, these requirements apply to advertisements, meaning a public announcement in:

- Newspaper, magazine
- Brochure, leaflet
- Advertising notice (publicly displayed structure intended to advertise a business, product or service)
- Vehicle
- Radio, Television
- Online (incl. apps and social media)
- Direct mail
- Such forms as may be designated by Issuing Authority

1.0 BER Motif Guidelines

1.1 BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

The complete range of single BER Alphanumeric Rating Motifs are illustrated on this page along with the naming convention used for artwork files.

Where an advert covers properties with multiple BERs, the lowest BER must be shown (e.g. "From B").

The artwork folder hierarchy is illustrated below:

If colour is used within the advertisement then a colour BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif must be used.

A sample black BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is illustrated below, for limited use only.

BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

The motif comprises two discrete but interconnected elements:

- BER emblem
- BER Alphanumeric rating (A0–G) depending on the specific property being promoted

BER Alphanumeric Rating text

The BER Alphanumeric Rating as shown on the BER cert when it is displayed in text.

- The prefix “BER:” must precede the BER Alphanumeric Rating when it is displayed in text

BER Number for Specific Property

- The prefix “BER No.” must precede the BER nine-digit number when it is displayed in text
- BER nine-digit number as reflected on the BER cert and the BER National Administration System database. (Depending on the medium this component may or may not be included.)

Energy Performance Indicator

The Energy Performance Indicator shown on a BER certificate is the energy required for space heating and cooling, water heating, ventilation and lighting. It is expressed in kilowatt hours per m² of floor area per year (kWh/m²/yr). It allows for an objective comparison of different buildings on a like for like basis, even those within the same BER grade.

- “Energy Performance Indicator:” must precede the Energy Performance Indicator numerical value
- “kWh/m²/yr” must follow the Energy Performance Indicator numerical value as a whole number (no decimal places)

Energy Performance Indicator: 123 kWh/m²/yr

Size

- For each medium where the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is utilised, minimum sizes are prescribed (see specific application guidelines pages)
- The relative width and height of the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif must not be altered from that supplied in the prescribed electronic files
- However in all instances the size used should be sufficient that the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is clearly legible by the intended audience, relative to the overall size of advertising medium and such that other content in the advertisement does not deliberately diminish the legibility of rating

Minimum Size

- Minimum Height for print: 3mm to include the white clearance zone (10% of size of .eps artwork files supplied)
- Minimum Height for web: 17 pixels to include the white clearance zone
- Minimum Height for an Estate Agent display board: 5% of total display board height

Clearance Zone and Background

The BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is placed on its own white background which defines the clearance zone for it. Any elements within this clearance zone should not be altered. Also, designers using the motif should not do anything within the overall design which could be construed as deliberately distracting from or allowing for misrepresentation / misinterpretation of the motif.

1.4 Colours

The colours are per those set down in the electronic formats by SEAI and no effort should be made to amend these colours, particularly as they relate to conveying the energy rating of the property. However for avoidance of doubt the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif colours are shown opposite.

Should the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif need to be reproduced in single colour the prescribed Black and White artwork should be used. Do not tint any colours or reproduce the motif in any other colours than those prescribed.

Special Considerations

Multiple property advertising follows the same summary requirements as denoted above. For specific guidance on instances where the advertisement relates to more than one property e.g. homes in a speculative development, apartments in a single complex please see Section 2.10.

When buildings are otherwise exempt from the requirements to have a BER, as set out in Article 4 of S.I. 243 of 2012, then the words BER Exempt should be substituted for the BER Alphanumeric in accordance with the guidelines prescribed for each specific media type. For further details see Section 2.11.

2.2 Newspaper, Magazine Display Advertisements

Applies to any paid for advertisement in the print media (newspaper, magazine, freesheet etc.).

Where there are graphical elements included in the advertisement (pictorial representation of property) then the BER should be represented using the BER alphanumeric rating motif. This also relates to paid for advertorial where there is pictorial representation of the property(s).

Where the advertisement comprises text only e.g. small ads, then the BER Written Details Guidelines should be used.

2.10 Multiple Property Advertisements

Multiple property advertising follows the same guidelines as denoted in Sections 2.1 to 2.11 of this document. The guidance on the previous pages relates generally to single property advertisements. However in instances where the advertisement relates to more than one property e.g. homes in a speculative development or apartments in a single complex, then the following additional guidelines apply.

BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then the following rule exists for presenting the Alphanumeric rating:

Indicate the range of BER ratings for all relevant properties using the wording “from” followed by the prescribed BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif for the poorest rated property in the group.

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then no BER number need be indicated, however the brochure/website should clearly state where the BER numbers for all relevant properties may be sought and this should be available on demand, from the time of placing of the advertisement.

Energy Performance Indicator

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then present the Energy Performance Indicator or EPI (where it is specifically mandated for the medium) in the following manner:

- Indicate the range of EPIs from lowest value (first) to highest value (second) for all relevant properties
- Should be clearly denoted on the advertisement in clearly legible text.

BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

The motif comprises two discrete but interconnected elements:

- BER Motif
- BER Alphanumeric rating (A1-G) depending on the specific property being promoted

BER Alphanumeric Rating text

The BER Alphanumeric Rating as shown on the BER cert when it is displayed in text.

- The prefix “BER:” must precede the BER Alphanumeric Rating when it is displayed in text

BER Number for Specific Property

- The prefix “BER No.” must precede the BER nine-digit number when it is displayed in text
- BER nine-digit number as reflected on the BER cert and the BER National Administration System database. (Depending on the medium this component may or may not be included.)

Energy Performance Indicator

The Energy Performance Indicator shown on a BER certificate is the energy required for space heating and cooling, water heating, ventilation and lighting. It is expressed in kilowatt hours per m² of floor area per year (kWh/m²/yr). It allows for an objective comparison of different buildings on a like for like basis, even those within the same BER grade.

- “Energy Performance Indicator:” must precede the Energy Performance Indicator numerical value
- “kWh/m²/yr” must follow the Energy Performance Indicator numerical value as a whole number (no decimal places)

Energy Performance Indicator: 123 kWh/m²/yr

Size

- For each medium where the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is utilised, minimum sizes are prescribed (see specific application guidelines pages)
- The relative width and height of the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif must not be altered from that supplied in the prescribed electronic files
- However in all instances the size used should be sufficient that the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is clearly legible by the intended audience, relative to the overall size of advertising medium and such that other content in the advertisement does not deliberately diminish the legibility of rating

- Minimum Height for print: 3mm to include the white clearance zone (10% of size of .eps artwork files supplied)
- Minimum Height for web: 17 pixels to include the white clearance zone
- Minimum Height for an Estate Agent display board: 5% of total display board height

Clearance Zone and Background

The BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif is placed on its own white background which defines the clearance zone for it. Any elements within this clearance zone should not be altered. Also, designers using the motif should not do anything within the overall design which could be construed as deliberately distracting from or allowing for misrepresentation / misinterpretation of the motif.

2.5 Colours

The colours are per those set down in the electronic formats by SEAI and no effort should be made to amend these colours, particularly as they relate to conveying the energy rating of the property. However for avoidance of doubt the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif colours are shown opposite.

Should the BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif need to be reproduced in single colour the prescribed Black and White artwork should be used. Do not tint any colours or reproduce the motif in any other colours than those prescribed.

3.16 Multiple Property Advertisements

Multiple property advertising follows the same guidelines as denoted in Sections 3.1 to 3.14 of this document. The guidance on the previous pages relates generally to single property advertisements. However in instances where the advertisement relates to more than one property e.g. homes in a speculative development, apartments in a single complex then the following additional guidelines apply.

BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then the following rule exists for presenting the Alphanumeric rating:

- Indicate the range of BER ratings for all relevant properties using the prescribed dual BER Alphanumeric Rating Motif indicating the most efficient rating first and least efficient rating second
- Use electronic format for the motif as supplied by SEAI

BER Alphanumeric Rating text

Indicate the range of BER ratings for all relevant properties in text, indicating the most efficient rating first and least efficient rating second.

BER Number

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then no BER number need be indicated, however the brochure/ website should clearly state where the BER numbers for all relevant properties may be sought and this should be available on demand, from the time of placing of the advertisement.

Energy Performance Indicator

Where the particular advertisement relates to more than one property then present the Energy Performance Indicator or EPI (where it is specifically mandated for the medium) in the following manner:

- Indicate the range of EPIs from lowest value (first) to highest value (second) for all relevant properties
- Should be clearly denoted on the advertisement in clearly legible text.

3.17 BER Exempt Property Advertisements

BER Exempt property advertising should follow the general guidelines as denoted in Sections 3.1 to 3.14 of this document.

BER Exempt Property Advertising
Content	BER Exempt. Text must appear in all instances where BER alphanumeric motif or text is otherwise required.
Presentation	Text should be in same font (height, weight and colour) as property price or location details.
Placement	As per existing media specific requirements for BER alphanumeric
